To Whom It May Concern:

Re: The Design Pro LLC

For the past three or more years our small company has relied on Linda Hostettler and The Design Pro LLC for a wide range of services. Most recently we presented an idea to rebrand our company to give it a more accurate presentation to the market place. Linda took complete charge of the rather vaguely presented concept and turned it into a turnkey project that exceeded our expectations while keeping within our budget. This involved design work...making a new logo; artwork...refining all our ideas into something we felt was ours yet doable; renaming the company...registering all possible domain names, searches, implications, emotions etc.; details...new letterhead design, checks, invoices, name cards; marketing...all the way with customer surveys, announcements, mailings, brochures, sell sheets, trifolds;. and we thought all she could do was websites! She went "over the hill" with the website and it speaks for itself and its all off her vine! They know all about how it works and why...they have really helped in our advertising budgeting...ad words, Google, Yahoo, etc.

Aside from the talent, Linda and her people are professional, interesting and kind at heart. Of course they are fair in price and business like in delivery. If you are considering The DesignPro for a project I don't think you will be disappointed in the results.

Please feel free to contact me if you think I can offer any further insight and visit us at our new digs:
